Leaves His Fair Companion to Trail and Capture Two "Dips."

Detective Mike Lagree of the Madison street police station had a night of bad luck, and he put on a nifty and efficient necktie, had his shoes shined and hustled out for the girl. She lives in the Bronx.

Detective Mike found her waiting for him. He suggested a walk in Bronx park and they strolled in that direction.

They were near the entrance of the park, under the elevated structure of the subway at One Hundred and Eighty street, when Mike gave a jump. Two little young gentlemen were following a bewhiskered citizen, and one of them Mike recognized as a "dip" of long standing. "Excuse me," he said to the lady, "but I am a police officer."

Magistrate Nolan in the Westchester Police Court to-day sent both to the island for ninety days.

VACUUM BY EXPERIENCE.
(From the Advertiser.)
Experience is a great teacher and it is one to believe that the good habits are harder to form and easier to break than the other kind.

The Leading Expert and Instructor in NEW MODERN DANCING

"Dance Sir—I have used ALLEN'S DANCE—BASE, the scientific powder to rub into the shoes, for the past ten years, and can say from experience that it is a blessing to all who are compelled to be constantly on their feet. I dance eight or ten hours daily, and find that ALLEN'S DANCE—BASE keeps my feet cool and comfortable, takes the friction from the shoe, prevents corns and sores, aching feet, and is a blessing to all my pupils."

Prominent Citizens Applaud Playgrounds Plan

For Children Suggested by Evening World

More Than 100 Little Folk in the Streets of Each Congested Block—Thirty Trained Supervisors Are Ready to Take Charge of Any Recreation Places Designated by the City.

"One-Way Traffic Streets Is the One Big Solution to Congestion," Says Chief Magistrate McAdoo—Many Places That Could Be Made Available for Playgrounds.

By Sophie Irene Loeb.

"Only two weeks ago I had this 'new hazard' borne in on me more forcibly than ever before. One of the old campaigners for social service in this city came to me and told how his little daughter had been crushed to death by a heavy auto truck."—Mayor Mitchell.

"Pedestrians, and especially women and children, must be speedily protected from too much traffic."—Borough President Marks.

"One way traffic streets is the one big solution to congestion, especially in the crowded sections."—Chief Magistrate McAdoo.

Owing to the congestion of the streets and sidewalks, due to the warm weather, the problem of the day is "safety first," and the cry of the hour is playgrounds for the children.

If you want to see why this cry should not down, go to the east side, or, in fact, all the crowded sections of the city where I have been for the last several days, and note the every minute risk run by the child of the streets. There is no possible way to keep children off the streets.

FOUR WAYS TO RELIEVE CONDITIONS.

The Evening World has pointed out four avenues that would at once relieve conditions enormously and make places for play all over the city at very little cost, and on which city officials are now at work. They are:

(1). One way traffic streets, which is the solution to congestion in every other large city.

(2). Utilize all the school yards and lower floors, and place supervisors there.

(3). Open all the vacant plots belonging to the city that are now unused.

(4). Prohibit traffic on the most congested tenement sections during certain hours of the day, as is done in Chicago.

The whole question is one of regulation and enforcing laws. The Safety First Society, as voiced by its president, Ogden Mills, has launched its platform in the interests of relieving congestion and accident and urges every means suggested toward this end.

"If The Evening World's suggestions are followed, we could immediately, with the help of the public officials, practically relieve the deplorable condition by more than fifty per cent." said Miss Stevens, supervisor of the Public Parks and Playgrounds Association to-day. "I have now thirty trained supervisors ready to take up any plots or streets that the city may turn over to us for play purposes. The great benefit that could be derived by opening up these streets or plots is easily estimated by the hundreds of children that we now are taking care of in this way."

"Many sidewalks have lately been given to us by citizens in front of public property, and our supervisors have reported excellent work here."

"We have been able to gather the children together on these streets and make such systematic play that would invite the children from all around to join. But we have not places enough to accommodate the crowds."

IMPORTANCE OF MAKING PLACES FOR PLAY.
Mrs. William Grant Brown, prominent in the Safety First Society and also in the Federation of Women's Clubs, said:

"There is nothing more important than making places of play for the children in this great city. This problem has assumed such proportions that every space that can be made available should be regulated without delay. The population is increasing every minute, and the officials should meet these alarming conditions first by making way for the children."

"I believe that one way traffic streets will reduce accident and death more than can be estimated. It is only a matter of education. As soon as drivers know they can go up only on one side of the street and down on another street, it will become second nature for them to do so. This is not a new idea and has been tried in every large city. Any one can readily see that when children only have to deal with one line of traffic going one way, the danger must be minimized at least half."

Mrs. Walter Lewisohn, whose family has long been identified in furthering the interests of children on the east side, and who are now drawing plans for the building of a great theatre on the east side to develop the children's talents there, has this to say:

"One of the splendid suggestions of The Evening World is that of opening the so-called small parks along Delancey street. They are of no use whatever with the high fences around them as they are at present. Hundreds of mothers and children could use these places that are now practically going to waste."

BLIND TO THE INTEREST OF THE LITTLE PEOPLE.

"I cannot understand why we have been blind to the interest of this vast army of little citizens, whose only place for play outside their two or three roomed homes is the street. It is a practical impossibility to arrange enough parks or plots in every vicinity where this congestion exists."

Yesterday I counted over a hundred children on each narrow block in this vicinity at 3.30 in the afternoon, over a hundred push-carts on each block, to say nothing of wagons and adult pedestrians. Therefore it is imperative that where public property is not convenient, the streets should be made safely accessible to them."

"Besides, there are many public spirited citizens that would be glad to set up for playgrounds any lots or sections that are designated for the purpose."

Union Men Will Retaliate Against Apprehension of Banoni in Trinidad.

TRINIDAD, Col., May 20.—Whole-sale criminal charges in connection with the week's fighting which resulted from the recent battle of Ludlow are expected to-day to follow the arrest of Victor Banoni, Trinidad bartender, on a charge of murdering Edward Kensing, an employee of the Forbes mine, who was killed during the attack on that mine by the "Flying Column" of strikers April 29.

Local leaders threaten to retaliate by getting warrants for Under Sheriff Zeke Martin and officials of the mining companies.

LAWYER IS ACQUITTED.
Receipt Shows He Was Not Guilty of Larceny.

For the first time in ten years a lawyer accused of crime was acquitted in the Criminal Courts of this county to-day. He is Mortimer W. Solomon of No. 135 Broadway, who was indicted and arrested on June 25, 1912. The charge against him was grand larceny. Mrs. Mary Maxey of No. 763 Tinton avenue, the Bronx, accused him of diverting to his own use $400 he had recovered for her in a suit against the Union Railway.

Solomon was placed on trial before Judge Swann in the Court of General Sessions ten days ago. He put up a defense of conspiracy. It was shown that he had been successful in a series of damage suits against the Union Railway, and his contention was that that corporation sought to ruin him. Solomon produced a receipt for $400 signed by Mrs. Maxey's son. She admitted on the witness stand that her son was authorized to sign the receipt. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

Policeman Saves Painter From Wrath of Child's Mother After Accident.

Henry Smalowitz of No. 312 East Houston street, a painter, was taken to the West Side police court this afternoon, trembling for his life. The complainant against him was Mrs. Rose Mulcahey of No. 772 Columbus avenue, and Mrs. Mulcahey was so mad that Smalowitz would rather have tackled Goliath and all of the Philistine cohorts than open his mouth before her.

Mrs. Mulcahey's fifteen-year-old daughter Margaret was brought into court as exhibit A against the painter. She seemed to be drenched in blood and strong men grew pale and women gasped when they looked upon her. She was crying.

Smalowitz was rushing for a car with a can of red paint under each arm. He was sober, apparently. His contract was to paint a sign. Little Margaret Mulcahey had just left the Church of the Holy Name at Ninety-sixth street and Amsterdam avenue, where she had received her first communion. She was dressed all in white and wore a veil and her proud mother was taking her to a photographer to have her picture made when Smalowitz spilled a bucket of red paint over her.

Cries of rage and horror rose from the people in the street and Smalowitz fled for his life. He was found hiding in the back of a store by Policeman Moore, who thought it a matter of safety first to lock him up. The Justice postponed the hearing to give everybody a chance to subdue their rage.

FINE SET NEAR KING; MILITANTS SUSPECTED

Their Majesties Left Royal Pavilion Before the Blaze Was Discovered.

ALDERSHOT, England, May 20.—A serious fire, supposedly of suffragette origin, to-day broke out in the furze in the long valley close by the Royal Pavilion, where King George and Queen Mary are staying for the Ma-noeuvres. Their Majesties had left the pavilion when the blaze was discovered.

The fire was extremely difficult to combat and was not extinguished for a considerable time. Several fire companies were called out and the military fire engines were put into play.

When the King and Queen left the pavilion two suffragettes were seen at the entrance waving "Votes for Women" banners.
